

Coaching Social + Emotional Intelligence – Expand Your Coaching Practice with this New Niche!

Life coaches AND executive / leadership coaches alike are finding that Social + Emotional Intelligence Coaching can significantly expand their coaching practice, and extend their coaching expertise, knowledge and skills.

Come join us for this lively session that will teach you how you can carve out a niche that allows you to carve out a new niche and distinguish your coaching practice from others by coaching your clients toward enhanced social + emotional intelligence.

Social + Emotional Intelligence Coaching is one of the fastest growing areas of coaching today, for life coaches as well as business, executive and health and wellness coaches.

In this class you will gain:

- An overview of social and emotional intelligence – the most up-to-the-minute information available on this fast-growing field
- New ideas on how you can grow and expand your coaching practice by adding this topic to your coaching repertoire (hint: the business case and ROI is amazingly compelling for your clients, and the health and wellness case is even more so!)
- A review of the 26 distinct competencies that comprise Social + Emotional Intelligence, and how you can learn to coach all 26

As coaches, our primary objective is to support our clients in living the best, most successful, most fulfilling lives possible. It simply can't be done without social and emotional intelligence. Don't miss this fast-paced, exciting and content-rich workshop with Dr. Laura Belsten, MCC, Dean of CTA's Graduate School, and well-known expert in the field of Social + Emotional Intelligence.